According to Jim Palmer, President of Orange County Rescue Mission, the organization is in dire need of basic hygiene items to provide to its 178 homeless individuals across multiple of its campuses including the Village of Hope, Tustin Veterans Outpost, and Double R Ranch.

“The health and comfort of our residents is one of our top priorities, and in order to ensure proper safety and wellness for all of our residents, we need to continuously meet the basic hygiene needs of the population residing at our transitional living facilities,” says Palmer. “Now, more than ever, we rely on donations of personal hygiene items for our residents, so they have an adequate supply of basic necessities that most of us take for granted.”

If you are in a position to donate and help the Rescue Mission provide basic hygiene products to its residents, below are some recommended items for the men, women and children currently living at the Rescue Mission’s Facilities:

-50%	-50%	-50%	-50%

In addition to these items, Orange County Rescue Mission also has an urgent need for new twin-size sheet sets, new bath towels, and new bed pillows.

“We remain humbled and grateful for the community’s continued support of Orange County Rescue Mission during these especially trying times,” continues Palmer. “It is only through the compassion and generosity of our neighbors that we are able to provide for our residents as they are in the process of transforming their lives.”

Donations may be dropped off at Orange County Rescue Mission’s Village of Hope located at 1 Hope Drive, Tustin, California, 92782. Items can also be purchased online and delivered to the Village of Hope address.
